

BOND IS FINALLY PROVIDED FOR LINGAFELTER FAMILY

Dramatic Incidents at Arraignment of the Trio.

Crowd of 500 Greeted Robert at the Panhandle Station Tuesday Night.

Jeered as He Was Led to Office of Magistrate King.

Judge Follett Signed Robert's Bond of $2500 While Mother of Mrs. Lingafelter Furnished Bail for Parents—Mrs. Lingafelter Indignant— What Was Said and Done After the Arrests.

Mr. and Mrs. James F. Lingafelter were arrested Tuesday afternoon and arraigned before Squire T. L. King, who released them on a bond of $1,000 each. Mrs. Mary Lavin, mother of Mrs. Lingafelter becoming surety for their appearance Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

The arrest was made in a very quiet manner by Constable John Hall, and no one except the waiting newspaper men knew when it took place. Constable Hall went to the Lingafelter home at 2:30 o'clock and it was just 4:45 when he emerged with the defendants. When he went to the house he was met by Mr. Lingafelter who invited him in and offered him a chair. The constable made known his business before entering by saying:

"Mr. Lingafelter, I have a warrant here for you and will have to place you under arrest."

The banker replied: "On what charge?"

"You may read the warrant for yourself," replied the officer, and together they entered the house.

After carefully reading the document Mr. Lingafelter said:

"This is all a terrible mistake. I do not even know one of the parties mentioned in the warrant."

At this juncture Mrs. Lingafelter appeared upon the scene and when informed that the constable also had a warrant for her arrest, she became very indignant and expressed her opinion of every one connected with the wrecked Building Association, in no uncertain terms. Especially was this true of those who, as she conceived, had inaugurated the prosecution.

"The idea of arresting me on a charge of that kind," exclaimed the irate woman when the nature of the allegations contained in the affidavit had been explained to her. "Well, I'll not go with you, that's all there is to that," and she again expressed her contempt and indignation for those responsible for her arrest, especially Expert Webber, who has been examining the books of the association, and Receiver George P. Webb.

Mr. Lingafelter and Constable Hall explained to her that she would have to go, and soon she became calmer and asked for time to get ready for the trip to the court room. This was readily granted. The husband and wife read over the affidavits discussing their contents, and it was 4:45 when they announced that they were ready to go.

The Lingafelter horse and buggy had been brought around on Second street, and it was agreed that the defendants should drive to Squire King's court room while Constable Hall should follow on foot. This procedure was followed and accompanied by their little grandson, Cecil Lingafelter, Mr. and Mrs. Lingafelter drove around the south side to the court room, where they were awaited by His Honor, Squire Thomas L. King and Attorneys Edward Kibler and Prosecutor J. R. Fitzgibbon.

Before leaving the house for the court room a copy of the Advocate was thrown into the front yard Mrs. Lingafelter went out and picked it up, bringing the paper back into the house. When her eye fell upon the headlines, announcing the arrest of her son, Robert, which was the first she knew of the matter, her demeanor again became excited, and she denounced the action as an outrage.

The arrest was accomplished in such a quiet manner that there was no such in the court room except the attorneys and several newspaper men, when the prisoners arrived. Mrs. Lingafelter's air was one almost of defiance and she had almost a sneer on her face. She was dressed in somber black except a white lace neck scarf. She sat down and looking toward the newspaper reporters, gave them a look of cold scorn and remarked to her husband: "I suppose this will make a good newspaper item."

The appearance of Mr. Lingafelter was in exact opposition to that of his wife. As usual he was immaculately attired in a sack suit of a gray material and wore a Panama hat, which he nervously toyed with while awaiting the proceedings. He looked worn and broken and plainly showed the strain under which he was laboring. His keen, dark eyes were the only thing normal in the ex-cashier's appearance.

Before the arrival of the Lingafelters' attorney, Mr. G. B. Smythe, Squire King asked Mr. Lingafelter if he knew the nature of the charge against him. He arose and addressing the court said:

"In general I do, and I want to say it's an outrage. Squire King you have known me to be an honest man for years and many others do. I never knowingly took a cent in my life from anyone."

"Nor did I or Robert," interjected Mrs. Lingafelter.

Continuing Lingafelter said: "I'll not ask any one to go on my bond, but will stay in jail to await a trial that can have no other result than my acquittal."

"Well, I don't propose to lay in jail and neither shall you," exclaimed Mrs. Lingafelter, "and if you don't ask for bond I will, and we will get it, too."

At this point Prosecutor Fitzgibbon suggested that Mr. Lingafelter await the arrival of his attorney, and in a few moments Mr. Smythe came into the room.

He examined the affidavits and consulted with his clients, after which he said:

"Your Honor, we plead not guilty to these charges, will waive the reading of the affidavits and demand a hearing."

"I supposed you wished a hearing, and when do you want it?" replied the court.

"Right now," Mr. Smythe almost shouted.

The prosecution stated that several witnesses would be necessary who lived in the country and it would be impossible to get them into court that evening, but that they had no objection to setting an early day for the hearing. Squire King then set 1 o'clock sharp Wednesday for the hearing, and upon an agreement between the attorneys a bond of $1,000 each was required from the defendants.

"We are unable to give bond, Squire," said Mr. Smythe, and the fact of a pin would have seemed a crash in the hushed court room.

"I will then issue a mittimus," said the court, finally breaking the silence which was painful.

While the court was preparing the papers for the commitment of the defendants to the county jail, Attorney Smythe consulted with Mr. Lingafelter in whispers.

The ex-banker was finally heard to say "No sir, I'll not ask her to go on my bond, but will go to jail."

The attorney and Mrs. Lingafelter then spoke for a few moments and finally Mr. Smythe said:

"Wait a few minutes, your Honor. I will be back," and left the room. He went down stairs and getting into Lingafelter's buggy drove away.

In about ten minutes he returned and stated that he had arranged for bond in the person of Mrs. Mary Lavin, mother of Mrs. Lingafelter.

The venerable woman refused to ride to the court room but walked from the Lingafelter residence, where she makes her home. She qualified and was accepted as surety on the bonds of the defendants, in the sum of $1,000 each.

In direct contrast to the arraignment of Mr. and Mrs. Lingafelter in the afternoon, was that of their son, Robert, later in the evening, which was attended by scenes of wildest excitement.

Chief James Sheridan arrived in Newark on Pan Handle No. 20 promptly at 9:15, and the sight that met his gaze almost stunned him. As he stepped from the train with his prisoner, a crowd of fully 500 greeted them. He hustled the prisoner through and started up Third street with him, the crowd following at his heels. The temper of the mob, for such it was, was plainly in evidence from the nature of the remarks hurled at the prisoner. "It's a shame to walk him, where's his auto," and similar sentences could be heard, but no attempt was made at violence. As soon as Chief Sheridan arrived at Squire King's stairway he stopped, and blew several shrill blasts on his police whistle, which called several officers who were stationed at the stairway with orders to keep the crowd back. These were re-enforced so that in a few minutes a line of officers established itself and no one but those who had business was allowed up the stairway. This move of Chief Sheridan's showed quick, cool thinking and is deserving of credit, as otherwise the mob would have surged up the narrow stairway and into the court room making it difficult to go on with the proceedings. As it was, the court room itself was hardly filled. The prisoner's father was present, but his mother did not appear. His grandmother, Mrs. Mary Lavin, his uncle and several other relatives of himself and wife were also present.

His wife was with him and at times whispered words of comfort and good cheer to him as he sat in his chair looking to be on the verge of a collapse. He never once raised his eyes, but sat with pale face and dejected mien throughout the proceedings.

Attorney Smythe pleaded not guilty, waived the reading of the papers, and asked that bond be fixed which Squire King did, making the amount $2500. Mrs. Mary Lavin offered herself as surety, but the court refused to accept her as she could not qualify in an amount sufficient to satisfy him. Other relatives then offered themselves and were likewise refused. It began to look as if the young prisoner would have to spend the night in jail, as bond could not be secured. Then occurred the most dramatic incident of the entire case.

A cab was called and Mrs. Robert Lingafelter went down stairs, got in and was driven rapidly away.

In about half an hour the hack returned and with Mrs. Lingafelter got out the venerable Judge, Charles Follett, who is 85 years of age, and is the grandfather of Mrs. Robert C. Lingafelter. He was assisted up the stairs and after some delay in fixing up the papers he qualified and signed the bond after which Lingafelter was released.

BATTLE In Which 2000 Were Killed and 4000 Men Wounded.

New York, Sept. 7.—Advices from Buenos Ayres today states that 2,000 men were killed and 4,000 wounded in a battle between the Uruguayan government forces and the revolutionists. The battle lasted for three days and General Vasquez, minister of war, who led the government troops, was defeated. He had retreated, abandoning his arms and munitions. While General Vasquez recently reported to the government that he had won an important victory over the revolutionists, it seems, from later news received, that his own forces were routed.

Warrenton, Mo., Sept. 7.—The Wabash wreck, near here last night, was worse than at first reported. Ten people were killed and 51 were injured. A broken wheel caused the train to jump the track.

Moberly, Mo., Sept. 7.—The south-bound Wabash passenger train which left Des Moines for St. Louis at 6:40 a. m. was wrecked near Pendleton, Mo., killing eight passengers and injuring more than 50 others.

The dead: J. E. Nichols, Macon, Mo.; Mrs. Henry Polchit, Huntington, Pa.; Mrs. C. H. Graves, La Plata, Mo.; Edna Patterson, La Plata, Mo.; Mrs. Henderson, La Plata, Mo.; Mrs. Anna Grender, Macon, Mo.; Miss Hebler, daughter of A. F. Hebler, Macon, Mo.; Mrs. W. T. Fish, Huntington, Pa.

Seriously injured: David Bruner, Kirksville, Mo.; A. S. Billings, Mrs. A. S. Billings, J. S. Cantain, La Plata, Mo.; Fred Crawford, La Plata, Mo.; J. A. Dudley, La Plata, Mo.; P. Fritz, La Plata, Mo.; John Henley, cook in dining car; F. Kelsöe, La Plata, Mo.; Miss Kelsöe, La Plata, Mo.; Miss Anna Mariens, La Plata, Mo.; Mrs. F. Plorens, La Plata, Mo.; Mr. Wills, Macon, Mo.; Waldo Walker, Macon, Mo.; J. T. Tate, La Plata, Mo.

Immediately upon receipt of the news of the wreck a relief train was sent out and the dead and more seriously injured were brought back here.

The train, which was composed of an engine, baggage and smoking car, day coach, diner and Pullman sleeper, was well filled, it being estimated by Wabash officials that there were about 500 passengers on board. The train was running at its scheduled speed when the accident occurred. The day coach left the track and breaking loose from the baggage and smoking cars, plunged down an embankment, dragging the diner with it. The Pullman did not leave the track. The heavy dining car crashed on top of the coach, and the majority of those killed and injured were passengers in the latter. There was no one in the dining car, it is stated, except the employees, who escaped with injuries.

Auto, as Battering Ram.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—Three men attempted to hold up Dr. Gilbert Fitzpatrick, early today as he was returning from a call in his automobile. The attack was made in Division street. In the absence of other means of defense the physician used his automobile as a battering ram and escaped.

Guests of the Nation.

West Point, N. Y., Sept. 7.—The members of the Interparliamentary union, a body comprising delegates from England and from every legislative body in Europe, were the guests of the United States when a tour of the country began under the auspices of this government. Distinguished members of the various parliaments of the old world to the number of 185 were officially welcomed to these shores at the military academy after a trip up the Hudson river from New York on board the United States revenue cutters Mohawk and Gresham. Escorting the little revenue flotilla was the cruiser Torpedo. At the military academy the nation's distinguished guests disembarked to the firing of the national salute of 21 guns. The formalities were brief.

Robbed and Murdered.

Antioch, Wis., Sept. 7.—Evidence of one of the most sensational murders in the history of this vicinity came to light when the mutilated body of Stephen Danah was found among the ashes of his home about three miles east of this city. Danah was an old man and had lived alone and was supposed to have had a large amount of money in the house. In addition to his accumulations was supposed to be money from the sale of his farm recently. The strongest evidence of foul play was a hole in the temple made by some blunt instrument.

Burglars' Big Haül.

Winstonsalem, N. C., Sept. 7.—Burglars blew open the safe in the office of County Treasurer Logan of Yadkin county, during the night, secured between four and eight thousand dollars. The postoffice safe was also blown and $500 stolen. The county treasurer has offered a reward of $2,000 for the capture of the burglars and the recovery of the money.

Senator Davis Spoke. Wheeling, W. Va., Sept. 7.—Hon. Henry G. Davis, Democratic vice presidential candidate, accompanied by a host of Democratic leaders is in town to see the state fair. When he was invited, Mr. Davis expressed a desire to be here on farmer's day and this has been set for Wednesday. At 1:30 he talked to the crowds on the fair grounds speaking on "Agriculture." He is accompanied by the Democratic candidate for governor, John G. Cornwell, and many others.

KNIGHTS Marched in Review at San Francisco

OVER TEN THOUSAND WERE IN LINE OF MARCH

The Twenty-Ninth Triennial is Inaugurated With Parade.

THE DAY WAS VERY WARM ONE

Making the March Wearisome to the Older Knights—Foreign Representatives Attract Attention.

San Francisco, Sept. 7.—The twenty-ninth triennial convale of the order of Knights Templars was inaugurated with a grand parade which brought into contrast the thirteenth and twentieth centuries and recalled the age of chivalry, when Richard Coeur de Leon and Saladin battled for possession of the holy city. With glittering gauds, with richly caparisoned horses prancing in gay accoutrements, 10,000 men who have passed through the vigil of the square and have symbolically received the golden spurs of knighthood marched with nodding white and black plumes, with white mallets crossed on their left shoulders, with swords flashing and with the banner of the cross flung to the breeze, over seven miles of the city's gaily-decorated and thronged streets, as marched the knight esquires of old through the streets of Lyons and Touraine to the rescue of the holy sepulchre.

A striking feature of the parade was the presence in line of the Earl of Euston and several other officials of the Templar order representing the Knights Templars of England and Wales. Their distinctive uniforms attracted special attention. The day was exceedingly warm, and the long march was wearisome to the older knights. A great many dropped out before passing the reviewing stand.

Joseph Leath of Coeur de Leon commandery, Knoxville, Tenn., dropped dead during the parade while starting to do a knightly act. He was riding in a carriage and, noticing a comrade who seemed to be almost overcome, he stepped from his carriage to offer him a seat. As he touched the ground he fell dead from an apoplectic stroke. Sir Simon, a local Sir Knight, was thrown from his horse and was severely injured.

The business session of the grand commandery began with a short meeting in the afternoon, at which the reports of the grand officers were made. The night program included receptions by a number of commanders and a reception to Grand Commander Stoddard.

London, Sept. 7.—The death of immediate press and official dispatches from the present actual seat of the far eastern struggle continues. It is admitted by the Russian war office that no telegrams whatever were received from General Kuropatkin bearing Tuesday's date, the last message to the emperor from the general being dated Sept. 5, and briefly telling that the army was advancing northward, that it had extricated itself from a dangerous position, that there was constant cannonading of the rear guard, and that the losses on that day were about 100. The situation, in the light of the latest information, may be summed up as follows:

The Russian forces are pushing on to Mukden greatly impeded by heavy rain, and floods, conducting an orderly retreat, and followed step by step by the Japanese. Details of the fighting and of the exact position of the opposing armies are lacking.

The report that Kuropatkin's rear guard has been annihilated and the Russian forces are in danger of being surrounded is denied by the Russian general staff. The Russian war office is entirely confident that the retreat is slowly but surely being effected.

From Tokyo comes the official report that the bulk of the Russian forces is still at Yentai. The Japanese field marshal in an extended report of the fighting up to Sept. 1 says that the Russians burned all the railroad bridges over the Taitse river, and predicts that while the Japanese list of casualties is not yet completed, the losses will prove heavy.

STRONG Representations Made to China

MA HAS BIG ARMY ON THE MANCHURIAN FRONTIER

Russians are Said to Have Abandoned Wounded.

CZAR RETREATING TO MUKDEN

Fate of the Rear Guard is Unknown—Only Fragmentary News From Far East Today.

Birmingham, Sept. 7.—The Post today reports that in consequence of the Russian communications the British and French governments have made strong representation to China against permitting of General Ma's troops to enter Manchuria. Ma has 50,000 well equipped soldiers on the Manchurian frontier and it has been suggested that since the Russians have retreated he should move to Manchurian territory, not necessarily to support the Japanese, but to take the country for China. Thus, says the Post, would create the most serious international position which has developed in years.

Russia Abandons Wounded.

Rome, Sept. 7.—The Yen-Tai correspondent of the Secolo today reports that the Russian army under Kuropatkin, is abandoning its wounded owing to the lack of ambulances. Many of the injured are dying of hunger and thirst. An epidemic of disease is feared.

Only Fragmentary News Today.

London, Sept. 7.—Nothing but fragmentary news has been obtained to day from the seat of war in the far East. What has been learned indicates that the retreat toward Mukden continues, and that a portion of the battle weary and torn force is already ready to Mukden and preparing to proceed north. A dispatch received at St. Petersburg says that General Kuropatkin himself has arrived at Mukden, but this was not confirmed. Regarding the fate of the rear guard which according to the last reports, was still fighting its way through the quagmire and over the swollen rivers toward Mukden, nothing definite can be obtained. As a result, it is feared in many quarters in the Russian capital, that a portion of them at least have been cut off near Yen Tai by the advance of General Kuropatkin. The retreating Russians must soon abandon Mukden and may make a stand at Tie Ling, 40 miles north where there is high ground and only a narrow defile for the Japanese to advance.

Pushing Northward.

London, Sept. 7.—The death of immediate press and official dispatches from the present actual seat of the far eastern struggle continues. It is admitted by the Russian war office that no telegrams whatever were received from General Kuropatkin bearing Tuesday's date, the last message to the emperor from the general being dated Sept. 5, and briefly telling that the army was advancing northward, that it had extricated itself from a dangerous position, that there was constant cannonading of the rear guard, and that the losses on that day were about 100. SUCCESS ASSURED

The Bliss Business College and School of Shorthand Will Open in Newark Next Monday With a Large Attendance.

THIS INSTITUTION WILL BE CONDUCTED ON EXACTLY THE SAME PLAN AS THE BLISS BUSINESS COLLEGE OF COLUMBUS.

The success of the Bliss Business College and School of Shorthand, which will open in this city next Monday, is fully assured. About 60 prospective students have already called at the college office to complete arrangements for entering at the opening, so that the college will open with a large attendance.

Those who have not called at the college should do so at once; by so doing they will be rewarded by seeing one of the finest equipped business colleges in the state.

The Bliss College of Columbus, O., is too well and favorably known in this vicinity to need any formal introduction, hence all we wish to say in connection with this school is, that the Bliss College of Newark will be modeled upon and conducted in as thorough a manner as the Bliss College of Columbus.

The new Bliss School of Newark, Ohio, will occupy the entire second floor of the building known as Wilson's Hall, on South Fourth street. (See electric sign). Following is a synopsis of the course of study:

Actual Business From Start to Finish.
The "Bliss System of Actual Business From Start," of which F. H. Bliss is the author, will be used, so that students will truly "learn by doing."

Those who enter the Commercial Department will begin buying and selling and actually performing all kinds of business transactions from the first until the last day of the course. Students in this department will enter into and draw up all kinds of commercial paper used by business men.

Book-Keeping.
As will be seen from the above, students will be taught bookkeeping by "Actual Business From Start to Finish." It has been proven by careful experiment that students learn as much bookkeeping by this system in six months as can be learned by the old theory method in twelve.

Commercial Arithmetic.
Sadler's Commercial Arithmetic will be used as a text book in this department. The instruction will differ widely from that afforded by ordinary schools, both in method of teaching and matter taught. Prominence will be given to those points which are of great interest to business men.

Practical Penmanship.
This college will have as its Teacher of Penmanship one of the best penmen to be obtained. Every student will receive a one hour's daily drill in penmanship under his instruction.

Commercial Law.
This branch will be taught by a lawyer in regular practice, and will include the following subjects: Contracts, Agency, Corporations, Liens, Insurance, Negotiable Paper, Partnership Interest, Usury, Bailment and Real Estate.

Commercial Paper.

Students will actually become party to, and draw up Checks, Promissory Notes, Drafts, Bills of Sale, Deeds, Mortgages, and every kind of Commercial Paper used by business men.

Rapid Calculations.

Students will be thoroughly drilled in rapid calculations of all kinds. The knowledge obtained by this drill will save him many hours of laborious figuring in the future.

Spelling.

The text book used contains 3000 everyday words, such as are used in ordinary business correspondence.

Business Letter Writing.

Great stress will be given to letter writing in this college, as it is well known that as a rule young people are deficient in this branch.

Shorthand and Typewriting Dept.

This college will use the Dement text book in teaching shorthand. It is a combination of the Graham and Bern Pitman systems, presented in a strictly modern way. The style it teaches is neither as short as the former, nor as long as the latter; a practical reporting medium, edited by Isaac S. Dement, finest writer in the world. This system is easily mastered and gives better results to the reporter than any other system published.

Typewriting.

The typewriting department of this institution has a room furnished with the newest and latest models of Remington, Underwood and other standard machines.

Evening Session.

The evening session will be held three nights each week. Those employed during the day can receive the same advantages in this session as in the day school.

Discount at Opening.

All who enter the college at the opening, Monday, September 12, will receive a discount of 10 per cent on a one year's scholarship in either department, the combined course, or Night School.

STOCKYARDS

Referendum Vote of the Union Is Being Canvassed By the Chicago Officials.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—At noon the count on the vote was not ready to be given out as forecasted, and it is said two hours more would be required to finish the tally. Following is a close approximation of the vote in Chicago against calling off of the strike 1,000. For calling it off 1500.

"The peace proposition has been lost by a good majority," said President Donnelly, this afternoon. "The strike will continue and no unions will go back to work until the final course of action is mapped out by the international officers and the conference board. If the proposition is not resubmitted the fight will continue to the end."

Chicago, Sept. 7.—The referendum vote by the striking employees of the stockyards is in favor of a continuation of the strike against the packers according to the best information obtainable this morning. On the ground that but 20 per cent of the strikers have voted, it is believed that President Donnelly of the butchers' workmen and other officials of the allied trades, will call for another vote. The lack of facilities for casting their ballots, it is claimed, caused hundreds not to register their sentiments on the proposition to return to work at the packers' terms.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—Whether the stockyards strike is to be called off or continued indefinitely will not be known until the result of the referendum vote on the proposition by the unions involved in the difficulty is made public by President Donnelly of the Butchers' union. The greatest secrecy is being maintained by the officers of the different unions as to the outcome of the vote, which is being taken by secret ballot. No official statement regarding the probable result of the balloting could be obtained, and the reports of those who made a canvass of the situation conflicted. It was claimed by several of the striking butcher workmen that their union had voted to reject the proposition offered by the allied trades conference board. The persons asserted that the butchers would not agree to an unconditional surrender, as exacted by the packers, and which it is said was agreed to by the allied trades conference board. To offset these reports many of the butchers declared that their organization had voted to return to work on the terms offered by the employers.

Subway Matter Settled.

New York, Sept. 7.—The threatened elevated railroad strike here has been averted, an agreement having been reached at a five-hour conference between representatives of the Interborough Rapid Transit company and of the engineers, firemen and other employees of the road. The agreement is to be in force for three years, and its point of chief interest is that the motormen in the subway will be paid $3.50 a day for 10 hours' work. Each side expressed entire satisfaction with the agreement. The men conceded an hour and the company conceded 50 cents pay, the men having demanded $3.50 for a nine-hour day and the company having declared it would pay only $3 for a day of 10 hours. All the other demands of the men, which were conceded last Saturday, with the rights of seniority, priority and preference for all elevated employees who transfer to the subway, are made part of the agreement.

By a Small Majority.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 7.—Three hundred strikers met in Labor temple and took a referendum vote on the proposition made by the packers. It is unofficially reported that by a majority of 10 the vote was favorable to returning to work on the terms offered.

The Vote in Omaha.

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 7.—The packing house strikers in South Omaha voted to return to work on the basis of settlement named by President Donnelly. Figures on the vote were not given out by the leaders.

Coroner Will Investigate.

New York, Sept. 7.—A searching investigation to determine and place the responsibility for the tenement house fire on Attorney street last Sunday, in which 15 lives were lost and many persons injured, will be made under the direction of Coroner Scholer. The coroner says that an examination of the premises convinces him that some one was criminally negligent.

VERMONT ELECTION.

Republicans Elect Governor by Thirty-two Thousand Plurality.

White River Junction, Vt., Sept. 7.—Returns received indicate that the Republicans elected the head of their ticket by a plurality equal to if not greater than that returned by William W. Stickney when he was elected governor in 1900. Out of the 246 cities and towns of the state 175 give Bell (Rep.) for governor 33,123, Porter (Dem.) 10,122. The same places in 1900 gave Stickney (Rep.) 32,752, Senter (Dem.) 10,682. Compared with the figures of the election of 1900 the vote shows a Republican gain of 1 per cent and a Democratic loss of 5 per cent. If the cities and towns still to be heard from show similar Republican gains Bell is elected by a plurality even greater than Stickney received. Secretary A. E. Watson of the Republican state committee claims the state by 32,000 plurality.

You Can Be Cured.

No. 11 Cedar Terrace, Hor Springs, Ark., April 22, 1902. When I was first married I found that my strength and health were gradually diminishing. I became nervous and irritable, and was in bed a week and sometimes ten days of every month, and had intense bearing down pains. My husband had the best physician for me and I used his medicine for nearly four months, but I gradually grew worse, had less strength, and finally, I was unable to leave my bed at all. A friend who was calling on me brought me a bottle of Wine of Cardui and was so loud in its praise that I told her that I would take it to please her. I was surprised and pleased that before I had used the bottle I really felt better, so I kept on using it. Eight bottles brought back my lost health and strength, and I have not had a sick day in six months.

Announcement of Candidates.

The names of candidates for ward, city and township offices to be nominated by the Democrats at their coming caucuses and City Convention, will be published in the Advocate, beginning with Thursday, September 8. Announcement fee $1.00.

Arkansas went overwhelmingly Democratic on Monday, and likewise Vermont went Republican in the same manner on Tuesday. And therein we have a stand-off. As usual, neither result counts for anything in influencing a campaign like the present one.

Another Leading Republican Comes Out for Judge Parker.

Ernest H. Crawford of New York, who succeeded Theodore Roosevelt as a member of the Assembly of New York, and was appointed by the Republicans to a Federal judgeship, has come out for Judge Parker, and on grounds stated by Mr. Crawford as follows:

Mr. Roosevelt has deliberately made himself the incarnation of the spirit of militarism and imperialism. His idea of National greatness means nothing but physical strength, and for great ideas he would substitute a big navy. Freedom, equality, justice, must all be subordinated to brute force. The change shows itself already on the surface of life in Washington. Uniforms and brass buttons, new-fangled military escorts, war talk and war manners are gradually making headway there, as fast as circumstances permit. It is the Kaiserism of the German Kaiser which seems to have roused the emulation of our President and his cabinet, and Kaiserism with all that that word implies—Prussian junkerism, Jesu majesty, enormous ornaments and all peaceful pursuits subordinated to military enterprise—that is the issue at the coming election.

Judge Parker has spoken plainly on this subject. He believes in neighborly conduct between nations as between individuals. He is opposed to slave dependencies as well as to domestic slavery. We may be sure that he would have protested as President against the annexation by Great Britain of the only two republics in Africa, and that he would never have been guilty of the Filipino—nor of the vivisection of our nearest sister republic in South America. He would lay aside the big stick and teach the native to behave like a gentleman. In a word he would put an end to Kaiserism.

RURAL FREE DELIVERY

The Democrats and Not the Republicans Entitled to Credit.

History of Its Origin Shows Democrats First Introduced the Service--The First 84 Routes Were Established by Postmaster General Wilson, Democrat.

Washington, Sept. 7.—The Republican campaign book has made its appearance and is filled with lies, false claims, cant and hypocrisy from beginning to end.

Among the numerous other misstatements of the Republican Campaign Book is the one claiming for that party the origination of rural free delivery for the benefit of farming communities. There was no rural free delivery prior to 1892. Postmaster-General Wanamaker had recommended its extension to smaller cities and villages, but had not recommended free delivery to the farming communities.

The first suggestion of that kind was proposed by the Hon. L. F. Livingston, Democratic member from the State of Georgia, when he offered the following amendment to the Postoffice appropriation bill, on June 22, 1892:

"Amend line 10, page 3, by striking out the word '6' and insert the word 8, and also after the word 'dollars,' in line 11 these words, provided that $200,000.00 shall be used for experimental free rural delivery outside the towns and villages." (See Congressional Record, 1st Session, 53d Congress, pages 19-52.)

That amendment was ruled out on a point of order, and other similar amendments offered by Democrats met the same fate.

In the following session of the succeeding Congress, February 17, 1893, an amendment was offered by Hon. Thomas E. Watson, at that time a Democratic member from the State of Georgia, to the Post Office Appropriation Bill, providing that $10,000 be expended by the Postmaster General as an experiment for rural free delivery to the farmers. This being a Democratic Congress, that amendment was adopted, and the bill as amended became a law. Mr. Harrison was then President and Mr. Wanamaker Postmaster General. The appropriation, however, was not used during the term of office, nor during the first two years under Mr. Cleveland. Democratic Congresses, however, continued making appropriations, and in 1895 $20,000 was appropriated for this purpose and during the fiscal year 1896-

1897, under Postmaster General Wilson, a Democrat, the first 84 rural routes were established, the first route being established in Bartholomew county, Indiana, in 1896.

In the Record of March 15, 1901, included in the remarks of Hon. C. R. Thomas of North Carolina, will be found a letter from Postmaster General Payne, dated February 25, 1901, addressed to the Hon. L. F. Livingston, House of Representatives, containing the following:

"Sir: Replying to your letter of the 13th instant making certain inquiries relative to the history of rural free delivery service, I would refer you to the acts making appropriations for the postal service for the fiscal years 1892-3, 1893-4, 1894-5, 1895-6, 1896-7, from which I quote as follows:

" * * * 1896-1897, for free delivery service, in all, $12,818,250. * * * Provided further that $10,000 of this amount may be used to defray the expenses of experiments in rural free delivery, under the direction of the Postmaster General, and that the amount heretofore appropriated for this purpose and still unexpended be available for said experiments."

"During this fiscal year, 84 rural routes were established on the order of Postmaster General Wilson."

(Signed) HENRY C. PAYNE.

Postmaster General. This was therefore the inception of rural free delivery to the farmers. It was originated by a Democrat, first appropriated by a Democratic Congress, and instituted by a Democratic Executive. Like all reforms of that kind in the postal service, it began, of course in a small way as an experiment. It was continued as an experimental service, the appropriations rapidly increased, received in the House always a practically unanimous Democratic vote, and several times the appropriations were increased upon the motion of a Democratic member. Having demonstrated its usefulness to the farming communities, the service was, two years ago, placed upon a permanent footing.

These facts can be easily gathered from the official records in the Postoffice Department.

TREASURY FIGURES

Explode Claims of Republican Campaign Managers --Official Reports Under Administrations of Both Parties Make Favorable Showing for Democrats.

Washington, Sept. 7.—The Democratic campaign managers propose to make stronger efforts this year than ever before to explode the charges of Republican party managers that the induction into office of a Democratic administration is followed by financial and other depression.

Some important figures to prove the inaccuracy of this contention have been obtained from official reports of the Treasury. Students of the subject concede that the receipts of the Government each fiscal year show conclusively the business conditions of the country, inasmuch as lack of confidence and financial depression are invariably followed by a decrease in receipts from the different sources of revenue and a decline in the excess of receipts over expenditures.

President Arthur went out of office March 4, 1885, and in the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1885 the total receipts, exclusive of postal revenues, were $111,690,706, and the total expenditures $269,526,936, leaving a surplus of $62,463,770.

In the first fiscal year of the Cleveland administration the total receipts were $326,439,727 and the total expenditures $242,483,135, a surplus of $83,956,588.

The receipts under President Cleveland increased each year, as did the excess of revenue over the expenditures, and in the last year of his first administration the receipts were $387,650,053, and the expenditures $261,596,615, making a surplus of $105,053,443.

A strong point is made of the fact that President Cleveland went out of office leaving the revenues greatly in excess of the expenditures, as shown by these figures.

In the first year of President Harrison's administration the receipts began to dwindle heavily and the expenditures to increase enormously, with the result that in the fiscal year 1891, there was a surplus of only $37,239,742. In the fiscal year of 1892, the surplus had dwindled to the small sum of $9,914,452 due to the increase in receipts and heavy expenditures. The fiscal year 1893, which ended three months after President Cleveland had taken the oath of office for the second time, found the surplus reduced to the pitifully small sum of $2,341,674. When President Harrison entered the White House four years before this the revenues exceeded the expenditures by a total of $105,053,443.

Special attention is called to the fact that the first administration of President Cleveland turned over to the Republican administration of President Harrison not only a yearly excess of receipts over expenditures, but a large net balance. The official figures show that on the first day of March, 1889, the beginning of President Harrison's administration, the available funds of the Treasury exclusive of the $100,000,000 gold reserve, were as follows:

Agency accounts, $61,502,445.02. Net balance in Treasury, $165,846,471.10. Total available funds left by President Cleveland, $230,348,916.12.

When President Harrison went out of office and turned the Administration over to President Cleveland the available funds of the Treasury, exclusive of the $100,000,000 gold reserve, were as follows: Agency accounts, $38,265,322.90; net balance in treasury, $24,054,742.23; available funds turned over to Cleveland $62,450,065.18.

Despite the hard times which began with President Harrison and continued throughout the administration of President Cleveland, the Democratic Administration turned over to President McKinley when he came into office on March 4, 1901, total available funds of $157,213,632.08, made up as follows: Agency accounts, $44,523,333.35; net balance in treasury, $112,690,298.73; total, $157,213,632.08. This total was exclusive of the $100,000,000 gold reserve.

The close fellowship between Thomas E. Watson, Populist candidate for President, and the Republican managers reminds us of the close relationship between the McKinley leaders and Jacob S. Coxey in 1895, when said Coxey ran for Governor on the Populist ticket at the expense of the Republican campaign fund and assisted to defeat James E. Campbell. Coxey made himself very useful to the Republican managers that year and Watson is evidently playing the same tactics this year.

There is a great rush, especially of lawyers, to the Parker Constitutional club, organized by prominent lawyers of New York city, and now extending throughout the country. Thousands of favorable responses have been received to the invitations sent out to enroll in the membership. Clubs similar to the one in New York have been organized in the principal cities of that State, in St. Louis, in Indianapolis and in Newark, N. J. The movement responds to an intellectual demand to consider the issues of the campaign from the standpoint of accurate knowledge, constitutional principles and the strict observance of law.

COST OF LIVING

Oshkosh, Wis., Sept. 7.—The cost of living in the state of Wisconsin has increased nearly three times as fast in the past seven years as the wages of the workmen, is the statement made by Governor La Follette in the Labor Day address delivered here on Monday. The state executive asserted that a year ago he had made the same statement at Beloit and that then he had been bitterly criticised and accused of juggling the figures.

An interview purporting to come from Carroll D. Wright had been published, in which the governor's comparison had been pronounced false. But the governor declared that Mr. Wright had repudiated the interview and La Follette further maintained that the latest bulletin of Mr. Wright proved the truth of the governor's former comparison, in which he stated that since 1897 wages in Wisconsin had increased 10.1 per cent, while the cost of living had increased 27.4 per cent.

The governor then delivered his address on "Representative Government." He made no political reference.

DEMOCRATS

OF LICKING COUNTY PLEASE TAKE NOTICE.

Statement Issued By Chairman and Secretary of the County Executive Committee.

To the Democrats of Licking County: We have sent to all township and district committeemen a letter urging them to call a primary election or caucus on or before September 17 for the purpose of putting in nomination candidates for all township, school and village offices for which election would have been held last spring had the law not been amended by the legislature.

In Bowling Green township, north and south precincts of Union township, Licking township, Hopewell township and Hebron village corporation, there have been held primary elections or caucuses and nominations have been made and certified to the county board of elections, which, under the law, must stand as the nominations for the coming general election.

But these townships and corporations will take notice that an additional primary election or caucus must be held by them for the purpose of placing in nomination five candidates for members of school boards, two for three years and three for four years, as provided by the new school code. All other townships, villages and special school districts must make the same nominations, as all present school boards cease to exist upon the election and organization of this new board. By reason of the fact that our school code has been entirely changed by the legislature, although the Hebron special school district has made its nomination and certified to the same it will be necessary as the law now stands for this district to hold a second primary election or caucus, and put in nomination five candidates for members of school board as afore mentioned. If any township or other district has made its nominations and has failed to certify the same to the county board of elections, such certificate must be made at once and a primary election or caucus in such district called for the purpose of putting in nomination the candidates for members of the school board as above stated and for that purpose only.

leased just as the clock struck 12, midnight, and went to his parent's home with his wife.

Until this time the crowd on Third street below the court room did not seem to diminish, but remained very orderly, breaking up into groups which stood around talking over different phases of the sensational case.

Mrs. Robert Lingafelter accompanied her husband and Chief Sheridan from Cincinnati. She said that Robert on several occasions on the trip to Newark nearly fainted away and that on one occasion she thought he was dead, as he is troubled with organic heart trouble.

The cases against James F. Lingafelter, Mary J. Lingafelter, and Robert C. Lingafelter, who are charged with forgery, were called before Judge T. L. King at 1:25 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Before the time set the three defendants were in their places. Robert was much more composed and looked much better than on Tuesday night. He was busily engaged in reading a Cincinnati paper's account of his arrest, and after finishing this he turned to the war news which he read with evident interest.

Some delay was occasioned by the inability of Attorney B. G. Smythe to arrive but the proceedings were finally begun.

The defendants were represented by B. G. Smythe and Phil B. Smythe. Prosecutor Fitzgibbon represented the State and Attorney Edward Kibler appeared for Receiver George P. Webb.

The first case was that against J. F. Lingafelter, in which defendant is charged with forging the name of U. O. and Blanche Cramer to a receipt for $300 certificate of paid-up stock.

Prosecutor Fitzgibbon made the statement for the prosecution, and the witnesses for the State were called and sworn, three in number, H. O. and Blanche Cramer, and Expert Webber.

H. O. Cramer was the first witness called. He is cashier for the Weiant bakery. Witness testified that some time in 1898 he had a certificate of stock issued to him for $300 in the Homestead Building Association, which he held until March, 1899, when he drew the money out. Witness then identified the certificate and the receipt given by him when the certificate was redeemed. He was then shown another receipt, dated July 5, 1900, signed H. O. Cramer, which witness swore was not his signature. This is the alleged forgery, as witness in that year had no money in the association. It was noticed that the forged receipt spelled the name "Cramer," while witness' name is "Crawmer." It is alleged that Lingafelter after paying the certificate to Cramer, March 20, 1899, forged a receipt on July 5, 1900, and that no certificate was at that time redeemed.

Blanche Cramer, wife of H. O. Cramer, testified to practically the same thing. Neither witness was cross-examined.

A. M. Welser, the expert accountant who has been examining the books of the association, was next called. His examination was technical. Under cross-examination he could not tell in what respect the alleged forgery resembled the genuine hand writing of James F. Lingafelter.

Receiver George P. Webb was the next witness. Mr. Webb testified that in his opinion the receipt written July 5, 1900, was a forgery by Jas. F. Lingafelter.

This concluded the testimony in this case as the defense offered nothing.

The next case was that in which Lingafelter is charged with forging the name of James Cormican to a receipt for a certificate of paid-up stock for $400. The testimony in this case was almost identical except that Cormican testified to practically the same as H. O. and Blanche Cramer did in this first case.

Mr. Webber and Mr. Webb also testified practically to the same effect as in the first case.

At 3 o'clock the case against Robert C. Lingafelter was taken up in which he is charged with forging the name of Flora Wood to a receipt for a certificate of paid-up stock fraudulently issued by him.

ROBERT'S ARREST

"I'm Not the Only One Mixed Up in the Affair," Says He--Hypodermic Needle Outfit Found on Him.

Cincinnati, Sept. 7--Robert Lingafelter was arrested Tuesday afternoon at his office at 142 East Fourth street by Detective Burkholz and Chief of Police Sheridan of Newark, on a warrant charging him with forgery.

After the collapse of the private bank in Newark, with which Lingafelter, his father and mother were connected, he came to this city. A month ago under the name of the Ernst Real Estate company, he opened an office here and fitted it up in first class style.

A day or so after his departure from Newark the warrant for his arrest was sworn out by C. W. Bourner, president of the Homestead, before magistrate King. A technical charge of forgery was mentioned in the affidavit, as it was found necessary to have the youthful fugitive returned to Newark in order to explain more extensive speculations, which it is claimed, will not fall short of $75,000. Mr. Bourner alleges in his affidavit that Lingafelter had forged the name of Flora Wood. This was in 1898.

The warrant was placed in the hands of Chief Sheridan, and he at once set about to locate Lingafelter. It was pretty well known that he had not gone further than this city, but it was not until a few days ago that Sheridan obtained his address through the medium of a letter which was sent to this city from Newark. Sheridan arrived here Tuesday morning and explained his mission to Chief Milikin, who detailed Detective Burkholz to assist him. They repaired to Lingafelter's office.

Sheridan, from a safe place of concealment, pointed out Lingafelter, as it was deemed necessary to make the arrest quietly and not allow news of it to reach Newark. Burkholz walked up to the desk behind which Lingafelter was sitting, talking to a woman Lingafelter's wife was seated at another desk. Burkholz whispered to Lingafelter that he was wanted at police headquarters.

"Well, I'll be down there as soon as I finish clearing up a little business."

"No, that won't do you'll have to go now."

Lingafelter arose and started to walk over where his wife was seated, but the burly form of the detective interposed. The officer linked arms with him and strolled out of the office, leaving Mrs. Lingafelter in ignorance of what was really going on. On the way to police headquarters Lingafelter said: "Well, I am not the only one that's mixed up in this affair. I never received a cent of salary in the bank and I just helped myself to the funds, and I never kept any account of them either."

When searched at Central Station but $1 was found on him. However, a hypodermic needle outfit was discovered in his coat pocket. His wife later learned that he was under arrest and called to see him. The meeting was an ordinary one, and neither showed emotion. She said that her husband was a morphia fiend, and that he was not the only one with a hand in the wrecking of the bank. She asked for permission to accompany her husband to Newark and Chief Sheridan complied.

Chief Sheridan said before leaving here that he had lost $500 of his savings in the bank. He also stated that young Lingafelter was a high roller in Newark and Columbus, and that one of his favorite stunts was to throw a bottle of champagne through a saloon mirror, give a check to cover the loss and then hurry to the bank and make the check good, with funds that did not belong to him. He also ran up large bills in certain districts.

After Lingafelter had been locked up Chief Sheridan sent word back to a Newark detective to arrest the father and mother of the prisoner.

Mrs. Robert Lingafelter further said that her husband was not alone in any trouble in the building association, but that there were others whose hands were not clean.

"There will be some sensational developments in the case if it comes to a trial," said Mrs. Lingafelter, "and I can tell a few things which will put a new light on this matter. There are some things which I would hate to tell but if it comes to the worst I will go on the stand and tell all I know."

Sheriff W. H. Anderson and deputies Linke and Jamison were on hand to receive the prisoner if he could not give the required bond, but after this matter was settled their services were not needed. Neither Prosecutor Fitzgibbon nor Attorney Edward Kibler was present at the hearing Tuesday night.

There appears to be a disposition on the part of many to criticize the court for not placing the bonds of J. F. Lingafelter and his wife at a higher figure. It should be remembered however that this sum was agreed to by both attorneys for the prosecution.

ANSWER

Of J. F. Lingafelter, By His Attorney, B. G. Smythe, to Suit Brought By Receiver Webb.

In the case of George P. Webb, receiver of the Homestead Building and Savings company against James F. Lingafelter, and Mary J. Lingafelter, the defendants by their attorneys, Smythe & Smythe have filed their answer to the petition of the plaintiff. They claim that in June, 1902, Albert D. Alcorn and J. D. Pugh, of the state bureau of building and loan association, examined the books of the company and made a report to the state treasurer, George A. Marshall, deputy inspector of building and loan association represented to J. F. Lingafelter that there was a difference between said report and Lingafelter's report as secretary of the Homestead company. It was agreed between Lingafelter and the deputy and said company that in order to pay the July dividend of 1902 that Lingafelter should advance $20,000, which was to be returned to him when the making of a deed of trust, and that A. M. Webber should be employed as an accountant to examine the financial condition of the company. In the meantime, however, Lingafelter was to deliver to the company a deed of trustee, to be held by the company until the completion of the examination.

In the event the report showed a shortage the trust deed should become a lien upon Lingafelter's real estate.

Webber was employed in October 7, 1902, and the trust deed was delivered to the company. On May 11, 1903, the mortgage mentioned in the petition was executed and delivered to take the place of the trust deed upon the understanding that Webber's examination should be continued until completed.

It was agreed that Lingafelter should continue as secretary of the company until Webber had completed his work, and that the mortgage should not be recorded until the report was completed, and that on the delivery of the mortgage the trust deed should be surrendered to the defendant.

The defendants say that the $20,000 has not been repaid; that the examination by Webber has not been completed; that the difference between the two reports had not been righted or approved by the deputy; that a shortage does not exist for which defendants are liable; that no shortage has been ascertained and the amounts thereby delivered by the examination.

That the trust deed has not been returned to Lingafelter.

That the mortgage was put on record May 11, 1904.

That Lingafelter was not permitted to assist in the completion of the examination.

That the examination so far was imperfect and incorrect.

They deny the mortgage was given to secure the payment of any deficiency or deficit.

They deny that Webb, as receiver, has a lien to the amount of $50,000 or any other sum upon the real estate mentioned in the mortgage, and that he has a right to sell such real estate or stock.

They deny that the amount of the shortage has been ascertained to be more than $50,000, and that the condition of the mortgage have been broken.

They deny that Lingafelter, as secretary, had full management of its affairs.

They deny that on May 11, 1903, there was a shortage or that Lingafelter was liable therefor.

The deny Webb's legal appointment as receiver on the ground that he was a stockholder and indebted to the company, alleging that he fraudulently procured his appointment in collusion with others of the directors without notice being given to Lingafelter of such a move.

They deny that the real estate and stock are insufficient to pay the amount secured by the mortgage.

They deny that they are insolvent.

They deny that taxes have not been paid.

They say that the petition does not contain allegations sufficient to authorize the appointment of a receiver.

They say that Webb is legally ineligible to be and act as receiver and ask that the case be dismissed.

R. C. LINGAFELTER'S ANSWER.

In the case of George P. Webb, as receiver of the Homestead Building and Savings company against Mary J. Lingafelter and Robert C. Lingafelter, the defendants have filed their answer. They admit that George P. Webb was appointed receiver, but they say that at the time of the appointment he was and is now a member of the Board of Directors of the Homestead Building and Savings company, a stockholder therein, and that he is the regular attorney-at-law of the company, and that he was at the time of his appointment and for many years prior thereto had been a stockholder, director,

HAIR TELLS CHARACTER.
Color of Hair Said to Indicate a Person's Temperament.

Many people believe that blonde, or light hair denotes affection and dark hair constancy. A person without hair is not devoid of character; far from it. The disposition of the average bald-headed man is to show such solicitude for the welfare of others that he neglects himself. A German, named Prof. Sabouraud, of Paris, France, inoculated a rabbit with Dandruff germs, causing it to become totally bald in five weeks' time. To rid the scalp of these dangerous germs it is necessary to apply "Dandruff the cause—you remove the effect."

ELEVENTH
Annual Reunion of the Nethers Family, Held Saturday South of Frazeysburg, Ohio.

The eleventh annual reunion of the Nethers family was held at the home of Mr. John Nethers, two and one-half miles south of Frazeysburg, September 2.

It was a very fine day, quite a large crowd of relatives and friends assembled on the beautifully shaded lawn in front of the Nethers' residence, and after having had an hour of greetings and reminiscences, the table was filled with the good things of the country, and more than two hundred persons were present.

At 1:30 the exercises were begun with a song, followed by a history of the Nethers family. This was very interesting, especially to the younger members of the family.

After this, declamations were given by the children, the older members being used as targets for practical jokes. Then came readings by the Misses Nellie Freese and Nellie Nethers, showing a boy's view of courtship from observation, and a married man's idea of the second "knot." Many others were called to the stand and the whole program was greatly enjoyed. A jolly time was reported, but there was the pathetic side, and that came near the end of the day, when the parting time came.

No doubt every one thought of that great reunion to be held beyond the seas, where there will be no more parting, and the whole family will be gathered home.

Parting days will soon be over. And the time will not be long till in rapture and contentment, We shall sing the glad new song.

No more then will words be uttered. That will blight the hearts of men. Like the words we mortals utter,—"God be with you till we meet again."

But the song that then shall echo, Is the song that angels sing. No more parting, no more sorrow. Round the Throne in triumph ring.

—John Wright.

AMUSEMENTS

Among the notable scenes of Al. W. Martin's "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which is to come to the Auditorium tomorrow night, is the St. Claire home, showing a tropical garden with its fragrant magnolia and orange trees, among which nestles the typical Southern plantation residence, the home of little Eva; Legree's cotton plantation on the Red river with the cotton in full bloom; the wild rocky pass in Southern Ohio, and the ice-choking Ohio river by moonlight. The transformation entitled "The Celestial City" is said to be the most magnificent tableau ever conceived. In offering his $30,000 revival to our city Mr. Martin not only claims that the scenic effects are superior to any ever attempted but honestly assures prospective patrons that the company is composed of the most capable talent obtainable.

AT THE PARK.

The vaudeville bill at Idlewild Casino this week, as was predicted, is proving to be one of the best ever seen at this play house, and is drawing big crowds each evening.

At least two of the larger banks of New York will not carry an account for anyone who keeps an average balance of less than $1,000. It is said that one man who wanted to use the facilities of a bank of this sort has paid $1.50 a month for the privilege of keeping a small checking account. That charge was calculated to pay for the bookkeeping.

CHILDREN'S DAY

Over 5000 Children Will Attend Big Show on Wednesday of Fair Week.

At a meeting of the Board of Education of Newark on Monday evening, a resolution was unanimously passed to adjourn the Newark public schools on "Children's Day," Wednesday of the Licking County Fair, in order that the children of the public schools might attend the Fair in a body. This act on the part of the Newark Board of Education means that about 3,000 children of the Newark schools will attend the big Licking County Fair on Children's Day. Granville expects to send at least 400 of her public school children, and it is hoped and expected that the school children of the county will join in this great celebration.

There will be much to see and hear at the County Fair in the various products and exhibits and performances that will be in the line of the educational work of the schools and will be greatly beneficial to the school children. Of course all the school children will be admitted free on that day, and there should be at least 5,000 children present on this occasion. It is hoped that none will fail to avail themselves of this grand opportunity of visiting the fair. President Kussmaul and Secretary Farmer of the Board are taking great interest in this special feature of the coming fair, which they want to make a success. Secretary J. M. Farmer would like to hear from every school board in the county on this subject as soon as possible, so that he may know how many to expect.
